DEGREE IN FRENCH STUDIES

GENERAL AIMS

The fundamental aim of the degree course is to produce professionals with a linguistic, cultural and literary background, a comprehensive understanding of all areas related to French Studies, and the capacity to continue learning independently and to adapt to constantly-changing social, cultural and professional environments. In this regard, graduates in French Studies are qualified to work in a range of professional environments, including teaching and research, in the import/export departments of businesses, in public institutions and administration (EU organisations), and in publishing and communication, among others.

In order to produce professionals with this linguistic, cultural and literary background, the following general aims, which will later be divided into general and specific proficiencies, have been identified for the degree:

- To give a general philological training and a specific understanding of the linguistic, literary and cultural aspects of the French language.
- To provide the tools necessary for the specific study and understanding of different aspects of the French language, from a literary, linguistic and cultural perspective, through the acquisition of the techniques, tools and skills necessary to apply acquired learning to a range of fields.
- To produce flexible professionals with teaching and research skills together with a range of proficiencies related to international relations, communication, new technologies and the new roles demanded by contemporary society in the field of French Studies.
- To prepare students for subsequent post-graduate studies, whether in philology or in other areas of knowledge where a solid training in French Studies could be an advantage.

In order to make the course compatible with other activities, students are allowed to take a part-time course consisting of 30 credits per academic year.

DISTRIBUTION OF CREDITS PER SUBJECT TYPE

Subject type	Credits
Core (FB)	60
Compulsory (OB)	144
Optional (OP)	30
Final Project	6
Total credits	240

GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE COURSE PROGRAMME

The course programme is organised into modules and units. Each module consists of one or several units encompassing related contents and learning and assessment methods, whilst units may be composed of one or more subjects. Subjects comprise discrete content matter, which may or may not be integrated. This structure is in accordance with the aims and proficiencies defined for the degree.

The course programme comprises a total of 240 credits. This covers all the theoretical and practical knowledge which the student is expected to acquire, and includes fundamental aspects of the area of knowledge concerned, compulsory and optional subjects, seminars, work experience, supervised projects, the final project and other educational activities..

A total of 60 ECTS correspond to the core subjects that students must pass. All core subjects are related to several fundamental subjects in the area of the Arts and Humanities, as established in Annex II to Royal Decree 1393/2007, indicating the interdisciplinary nature implied by the objectives sought through the degree course.

- These core subjects (Language, Literature, Linguistics, Modern Language) are each worth 6 credits, and are taken in the semesters comprising the first half of the course (first and second years). They are indicated in the course programme by the initials FB (Formación básica – core).

- A further 144 ECTS correspond to compulsory subjects, related to Classical Languages, Literature and Modern Languages, and pertaining to the area of the Arts and Humanities, as established in Annex II to Royal Decree 1393/2007.

- There is also a compulsory Final Project, worth 6 credits, which is undertaken during the final phase of the course programme (4th Year). This is aimed at assessing the student's acquisition of the proficiencies associated with the degree.

- The remaining 30 ECTS credits correspond to the optional subjects which the student must choose, and which represent a complementary education. Although these credits are also related to the area of the Arts and Humanities, as established in Annex II to Royal Decree 1393/2007, none of the optional subjects comprise core subjects.

- Work experience is also worth 6 credits, and is undertaken in the final year, together with the optional subjects.. The skills and assessment systems for these optional subjects coincide with those for compulsory studies.

The Degree (Grado) in French Studies shares an educational structure common to the University of Alicante Degrees in Catalan Language and Literature, English Studies, Spanish Language and Literature, and Arabic and Islamic Studies, known as the "Degree Foundation Programme", in accordance with the University of Alicante regulations regarding the implementation of Degrees, which stipulate a common basis with later progressive diversification leading to the different degree qualifications.

Thus, French Studies, Catalan Language and Literature, English Studies, Spanish Language and Literature and Arabic and Islamic Studies include 60 shared credits which comprise the interdisciplinary module, taught in the first and second years of the degree and including subjects which are not specific to French Studies. The reasons for structuring the course programme in this way lie in the need for an interdisciplinary approach to Language and Literature degrees and for diversified academic learning in non-specialised areas as a basis for, and complement to, a better education in French Studies.

Specialisation in the Degree in French Studies is addressed in the second module, consisting of 150 credits taught in 4 specific units: French Language (13 subjects, 78 credits), French Literature (8 subjects, 48 credits), French Culture (3 subjects, 18 credits), and the Final Project (1 subject, 6 credits). In line with the distinctive nature of this degree, this module is taught over the four academic years comprising the degree programme.

The third and final module of the Degree in French Studies is the Complementary Module. This module, worth 30 credits, enables students to choose one of the 8 optional units offered: Spanish Studies, Catalan Language and Literature, English Studies, French Studies, Arabic and Islamic Studies, Classical Studies, General Linguistics, Literary Theory and Comparative Literature. Each of these units comprises a discrete group worth 30 credits, containing subjects specific to the unit title, and are taken in the final year of the degree course.

Students also have the option of undertaking Work Experience instead of one of the 5 subjects in each of the 8 units offered.

Where an optional unit other than French Studies has been chosen, the subject of this optional unit will then be classified as a "subsidiary subject" in the degree. The classification of "subsidiary subject" is reached by adding the 30 complementary module credits to the credits obtained for this subject in the interdisciplinary module (between 12 and 24 credits), leading to a possible overall range of between a minimum of 42 and a maximum of 54 credits.

FINAL YEAR PROJECT (TFG)

All the official undergraduate degrees must be completed by preparing and defending a final year project, which must be done in the final phase of the studies and be aimed at the assessment of competences associated to the degree.

The final year project must be an original, independent and personal work. The elaboration of it may be individual or coordinated. Each student will prepare this project under the supervision of a tutor, allowing students to show the received training content in an integrated way, as well as the acquired competences associated to the undergraduate degree.

In order to register in the final year project, students must comply with the requirements established in the "Regulations for continuation studies for students registered in undergraduate degrees at the University of Alicante". Among the requirements established to be able to register in the final year project, a minimum of 168 credits must be passed in undergraduate degrees with a total of 240 credits, and a minimum of 228 credits in undergraduate degrees with a total of 300 credits or more.

In order for the final year project to be assessed, a B1 level of a foreign language (B2 is recommended) must be confirmed.
