GENERAL AIMS

The graduate in Spanish Language and Literature will understand how to combine the spirit of innovation and advancement of knowledge with an academic and humanistic vocation which promotes reflection on the human condition in time and space, and will demonstrate the capacity to think clearly, imaginatively and critically.

The specific objectives of the Degree in Spanish Language and Literature are:

- To give general philological education, together with a specific understanding of the linguistic, literary and cultural aspects of Spanish language and literature.
- To provide students with the tools necessary for studying and understanding of different aspects of the language from a linguistic and literary perspective, leading to the acquisition of the techniques and aptitudes required to apply the knowledge thus acquired to different fields and activities.

In conclusion, to train flexible professionals capable of teaching and research, in addition to possessing diverse skills related to the media, communication and information technologies, and the new roles contemporary society demands of language and literature.

CREDIT STRUCTURE OF THE DEGREE COURSE

Subjects in the Degree in Spanish Language and Literature, each worth 6 European ECTS credits, are organised into semesters. Specifically, students are required to take 5 subjects each semester, to complete 30 credits per semester and 60 credits per year, for a total of 240 credits over four years.

In order to make the course compatible with other activities, students are allowed to take a part-time course consisting of 30 credits per academic year.

DISTRIBUTION OF CREDITS PER SUBJECT TYPE

Subject type	Credits
Core (FB)	60
Compulsory (OB)	144
Optional (OP)	30
Final Project	6
Total credits	240

GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE COURSE PROGRAMME

The course programme is organised into modules and units. Each module consists of one or several units encompassing related contents and learning and assessment methods, whilst units may be composed of one or more subjects. Subjects comprise discrete content matter, which may or may not be integrated.

The course programme comprises a total of 240 credits. This covers all the theoretical and practical knowledge which the student is expected to acquire, and includes fundamental aspects of the area of knowledge concerned, compulsory and optional subjects, seminars, work experience, supervised projects, the final project and other educational activities.

- A total of 60 ECTS correspond to the core subjects that students must pass, and are all related to fundamental aspects of the area of the Arts and Humanities. The basic core units (Language, Literature, Linguistics, Modern Language, Classical Language) are organised into quarterly subjects, each worth 6 credits, and are taught in the first half of the course programme (1st and 2nd Years).

- Another 144 ECTS correspond to compulsory subjects, related to Language and Literature in the area of The Arts and Humanities.

- There is also a compulsory Final Project, worth 6 credits, which is undertaken during the final phase of the course programme (4th Year). The aim of this Project is to assess the student's acquisition of the proficiencies associated with the Degree.

- The remaining 30 ECTS credits correspond to the optional subjects which the student must choose, and which represent a complementary education. Although these credits are also related to the area of the Arts and Humanities, none of the optional subjects comprise core subjects.

- Work experience is also worth 6 credits, and is undertaken in the final year, together with the optional subjects.

The Degree (Grado) in French Studies shares an educational structure common to the University of Alicante Degrees in Catalan Language and Literature, English Studies, Spanish Language and Literature, and Arabic and Islamic Studies, known as the "Degree Foundation Programme", in accordance with the University of Alicante regulations regarding the implementation of Degrees, which stipulate a common basis with later progressive diversification leading to the different degree qualifications.

Thus, the Degree courses in Spanish Language and Literature, Catalan Language and Literature, English Studies, French Studies and Arabic and Islamic Studies include 60 shared credits which comprise the interdisciplinary module, taught in the first and second years of the degree and including subjects which are not specific to Spanish Language and Literature.

Specialisation in the Degree in Spanish Language and Literature is addressed in the second module, consisting of 150 credits taught in 7 specific units:

1. Spanish language: synchrony (36 credits, 6 subjects),
2. Spanish language: diachrony (12 credits, 2 subjects),
3. Applied Spanish language (18 credits, 3 subjects),
4. First Language (6 credits, 1 subject to be chosen from a possible 2).
5. Spanish literature (48 credits, 8 subjects),
6. Latin-American literature (24 credits, 4 subjects),
7. Final project (6 credits, 1 subject).

In line with the distinctive nature of this degree, this module is taught over the four academic years comprising the degree programme.

The third and final module of the Degree in Spanish Language and Literature is the Complementary Module. This module, worth 30 credits, enables students to choose one of the 8 optional units offered:

1. Spanish Language and Literature
2. Catalan Language and Literature
3. English studies
4. French studies
5. Arabic and Islamic studies
6. Classical studies
7. General linguistics
8. Literary Theory and Comparative literature

Each of these units comprises a discrete group worth 30 credits, containing subjects specific to the unit title, and are taken in the final year of the degree course.

Students also have the option of undertaking Work Experience instead of one of the 5 subjects in each of the 8 units offered.

Where an optional unit other than Spanish Language and Literature has been chosen, the subject of this optional unit will then be classified as a "subsidiary subject" in the degree. The classification of "subsidiary subject" is reached by adding the 30 complementary module credits to the credits obtained for this subject in the interdisciplinary module (between 12 and 24 credits), leading to a possible overall range of between a minimum of 42 and a maximum of 54 credits.

OPTIONAL SUBJECTS AND ROUTES

Take the optional forms:

NO ROUTE (Table 1)

- 30 credits of electives.
- 24 credits of electives and up to 6 credits for participation in university activities, cultural, sports, student representation, solidarity and cooperation.
- Up to 30 credits for participation in mobility programs.

WITH ROUTE (Table 2)

You have to take between 42 and 54 credits of the same material other than your degree. It will therefore be necessary to obtain an itinerary, plus take 30 elective credits chosen field, have completed or to complete a minimum of 12 credits in the same subject in first and second grade.

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT (IN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE)

Students who study an undergraduate degree at the University of Alicante must confirm a minimum level of B1 in a foreign language (a B2 is recommended) in order to obtain the diploma.

The required language level is in accordance with the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.

The language accreditation requirement can be obtained previously or at any time during university studies. However, the language requirement will be necessary in order to be able to assess the final year project.

The different forms of obtaining such language requirement can be consulted in the additional information in this section.

FINAL YEAR PROJECT (TFG)

All the official undergraduate degrees must be completed by preparing and defending a final year project, which must be done in the final phase of the studies and be aimed at the assessment of competences associated to the degree.

The final year project must be an original, independent and personal work. The elaboration of it may be individual or coordinated. Each student will prepare this project under the supervision of a tutor, allowing students to show the received training content in an integrated many, as well as the acquired competences associated to the undergraduate degree.

In order to register in the final year project, students must comply with the requirements established in the "Regulations for continuation studies for students registered in undergraduate degrees at the University of Alicante". Among the requirements established to be able to register in the final year project, a minimum of 168 credits must be passed in undergraduate degrees with a total of 240 credits, and a minimum of 228 credits in undergraduate degrees with a total of 300 credits or more.

In order for the final year project to be assessed, a B1 level of a foreign language (B2 is recommended) must be confirmed.

PROFESSIONAL PROFILES

Due to the education received and their consequent capacity to analyse and understand the language's mechanisms, graduates in Spanish Language and Literature are equipped to work in areas traditionally associated with the degree, and in others which have emerged in contemporary society.

1. Teaching, in a range of educational environments, including secondary, adult and higher education, private academies teaching Spanish as a Foreign Language (whether as an employee or employer), and teaching jobs abroad, given that Spanish Language and Literature is one of the most widely spoken languages in the rest of the world. Graduates in Spanish can also teach their mother tongue abroad.

2. Research.

3. Lexicography and Terminology. The lexicographer and the terminologist possess the knowledge necessary to manage information and documentation, to negotiate, to participate in team work and to work under pressure, to translate, to write and to manage interpersonal communication. The primary responsibility of a terminologist is to provide specialist terminology to enable the writing of coherent and accurate texts, whether originals, translations or interpreting. Lexicographers are responsible for creating dictionaries and specialized or general glossaries.

4. Forensic linguist. Forensic linguists provide highly qualified and reliable scientific opinion for use in different public institutions and organisations (Law School, Public Prosecution Service, the Police), private services (companies) and professions (lawyers, doctors, psychologists).

5. Language promoter and specialist in language planning. Professionals in this area offer services associated with standardisation, linguistic planning and language promotion. Professionals work with language users and study their linguistic behaviour.

6. Specialist in text management and proof-reading. The work of these professionals is associated with text management, that is, the correcting, editing and assessment processes involved in the production of documents. Professionals work with texts in the publishing world, corporate and institutional settings, the media and in advertising, using traditional, digital or virtual technologies.

7. Linguistic-literary consultant. These professionals offer consultancy, documentation and literary management. Their work is associated with three principle settings: the world of communication, the publishing market, and documentation.

Professions for which graduates are qualified:

- University and non-university teaching;
- Linguistic-literary research;
- Language and literature industries;
- Linguistic-literary consultancy;
- Editing and reviewing texts (literary and non-literary).
